Key: Dm, solo in D

Notes: Thinking of Traveling Wilbury's, Not Dark Yet or Cross Roads. Inspired by George's Harrison's last performance song in an interview with VH1 where he played his song 'Any Road'. I've been playing it like John Denver's County Road

[Intro]

D – C – G – D

[Verse 1]

Which road am I taking Each way leads me on Their the ones that I haven't traveled Except for the one that I've been on

[Verse 2]

I can retreat and return
Safe and worn tired and thin
Feel that I need to move on forward
Take the road that moves me again

[Chorus 1]

Take that road
Don't take it from me
Take that path
wide open and free

[Chorus 1] [Repeats]

D – C – D – G

[Verse 3]

Which direction leads me to myself
Which one keeps me straight
They clearly point to new directions
Take the road that moves beyond

[Bridge]

The road less traveled
Is the road I want to be on
That road that is empty
Is where I belong

I wish I was on
That path before it's gone

I wish I was on
That road [pause]
Where I belong

[Solo] [3x]

D – C – D – G

[Verse 4]

I traveled hills and paths now
Without knowing where I'm going
Which road am I taking
Each one leads me on

[Verse 5]

I have learned from these paths
And their cross is hard to bare
One of them I desire to dare
Which road leads me on

[Chorus 2]

Take that road
Don't take it from here
Unknown paths
I question and fear

[Chorus 1]

Take that road
Don't take it from me
Take that path
wide open and free

[Closing]

D – C – D – G
D – C – D – G

[End]

Take that road
